

Last Word Letters

WE HELP YOU WRITE LETTERS TO YOUR LOVED ONES THAT YOU CAN LEAVE WITH YOUR WILL.

About LWL

My story starts with a vasectomy.

I know, that's not your typical way to find a cancer diagnosis, but I don't like to do anything boring!

I went in for a vasectomy and the doctor told me to go to the ER if I experience unusual pain. That night I did experience a crazy amount of pain, so I went in to get checked.

They scanned me to see what was going on, and the doctor came back with the results.

I'll never forget his words. "You are presenting to us as having lymphoma, we want to run more tests."

I remember thinking to myself, "What's Lymphoma? Is that bad...oh crap, that's cancer."

That started a journey for me. A journey that led to Last Word Letters.

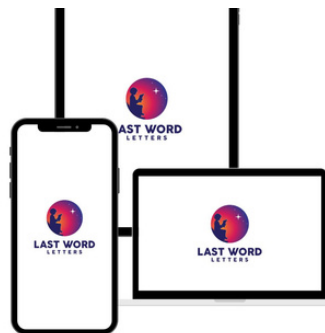

Read the rest of Jeremy's story by going HERE

LASTWORDLETTERS.COM

Jeremy Lee, our co-founder, would love to share on your podcast how his cancer diagnosis became a tool to help humanize estate planning.

(We offer affiliate links as a thank you for having Jeremy on your show, so that if any of your listeners purchase our product through the link, you'll earn a commission.)

To Book: Jeremy@BoroBusinessLab.com